

Reach Out and Read

Dr. Brittany Anderson, a family medicine physician, is opening a new office in downtown Demopolis and is using the launch of her new private practice in July to participate in the REACH OUT and READ program. Reach out and Read is a national nonprofit organization committed to improving the country's child literacy rate.

The program is simple and requires no paperwork on the part of parents. The books will be accessible and available to any child who wishes to take one home after a visit. Anderson will officially open practice on July 5, 2022 and will be located at 119 West Washington Street in downtown Demopolis across from the public square.
