

The Cary Center and River Region United Way's President and CEO, Jannah Bailey, to Provide FREE Virtual Training for Nonprofits

The Auburn University College of Human Sciences' Cary Center for the Advancement of Philanthropy and Nonprofit Studies will feature Jannah Bailey, President and CEO at the River Region United Way, in a virtual program, titled "Building Young Professional Boards," which will take place on Thursday, September 14, 2023, from 12:00 pm to 1:00 pm CST via Zoom. Registration is FREE but required and can be made at: <http://www.linktr.ee/carycenterau>.

This program was made possible by the generosity of these Cary Center Community and Collegiate program sponsors: Auburn University Outreach; Community Foundation of East Alabama; United Way of Central Alabama; River Region United Way; KPMG, Auburn University Outreach-Office of Public Service; Drummond Thorne Stukes Fund for Excellence in the Cary Center for the Advancement of Philanthropy and Nonprofit Studies, and a community service grant made possible by state senator Randy Price and state representative Joe Lovvorn.

The Cary Center for the Advancement of Philanthropy and Nonprofit Studies is an academic center in Auburn University's College of Human Sciences with a focus on financial wellness, philanthropy engagement, and nonprofit studies. The Cary Center inspires its participants to discover their purpose through learning, giving, and growing while empowering all generations to leave an enduring legacy. The Community and Collegiate division of the Cary Center provides capacity-building resources to nonprofits to include educational programming, professional development, and networking.
